EVERY THIRD PERSON KILLED BY AUTO IS A CHILD

By CHARLES O. POWER.

Most people have peculiar ideas about automobile troubles. The majority of accidents do not happen at night. There are four times as many in the day time. Most of them do not happen on the broad highway, because of joy riding. Five times as many happen in the cities and towns.

Most people are not killed or injured by pleasure cars. More than twice as many are fatally or seriously struck by trucks. Intoxicated drivers seem to have a charmed life. They figure in only a few of the fatalities. They escape are surrounded by so many sensational features that more is published about them than about the deadly work of the heavy trucks. But here is the sad part. Statistics for years show that little children have furnished the most cruel group of victims. They have averaged about 30 per cent of the total right along. And they have not been while riding, but while playing in the streets.

CAUSES OF ACCIDENTS
What are some of the principal causes of accidents? Here they are given in the order of their importance: Carelessness of children and old people, pedestrians dodging from side to side, and slowly creeping out from behind street cars or other vehicles, mutual disregard of each other's rights, carelessness of motorists, over speeding, interference in operating trucks and cars, failure to slow down at intersecting ways, passing trolley cars stopped to receive or pass passengers, and the like.

It is also very common for a driver to be careless of the rights of others. It is also very common for a driver to be careless of the rights of others. It is also very common for a driver to be careless of the rights of others.

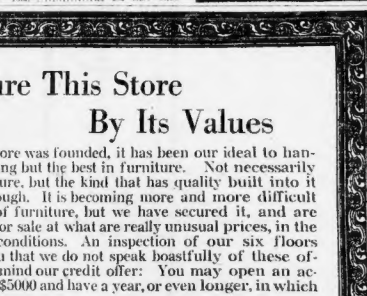

HAIR'S HAIR HEALTH is not a dye, but will it double the width of the hair, making it thicker and more abundant. It is also very common for a driver to be careless of the rights of others.

Measure This Store By Its Values
Ever since this store was founded, it has been our ideal to handle and sell nothing but the best in furniture. Not necessarily expensive furniture, but the kind that has quality built into it through and through. It is becoming more and more difficult to get that sort of furniture, but we have secured it, and are now offering it for sale at what are really unusual prices, in the face of present conditions. An inspection of our six floors will convince you that we do not speak boastfully of these offerings. Keep in mind our credit offer: You may open an account from $5 to $500 and have a year, or even longer, in which to pay.

-And Other Relics, Too Numerous to Mention

New item—Kaiser's throne brought to be sold in New York at auction.

Here are some other war relics suggested for sale: Picture of Hindenburg eating his dinner in Paris.

American crown jewels; dollar sign, dollar a week. Picture of Crown Prince entering Verdun.

Picture of Joe Tiffin on bridge of German submarine steaming up the Hudson. Engraving of Ludendorff receiving Foch's sword at Versailles.

Kaiser's international party trophy—recommended as food for any good cause. Admiral Hind's British medals.

Attorney-General Palmer's turban against the price of sugar. Any well-cared for street in Boston. Cords to wear for professors.

FIGURES ANALYZED
A study of these automobile accident tables discloses many interesting features. While the total injuries jumped only about seventeen per cent in 1919 over 1918, the total fatalities increased 37 per cent.

The official explanation of the jump of the latter class of cases will strike most persons, at least at first, as being decidedly quaint. But the statistics have the automobile situation under their command say that can convince the most cynical that they are right about it. They blame the war, or war prosperity. People to whom the war brought sudden wealth and who invested in automobiles, and who were responsible for the startling growth of the number of automobiles, are the cause of the increase.

As for percentages of increasing accidents, the figures were the automobiles and carriages. True, there were nearly 1,000 more pedestrians killed last year than the one preceding, but that is only an increase of about 4 per cent. There was an increase in the number of motorcycle riders of 12, but that is only a jump of 21 per cent. There were 124 more bicyclists killed last year, but that was only an increase of 4 per cent.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

19P.C. PROFIT ON RENTS 'FAIR'

Back Bay Woman Defends Boosting Tenants Before Mayor's Committee

Stinson per cent, is a fair profit on real estate property, according to Ruth Chamberlain, who made this claim to the Mayor's rent committee through her attorney, George T. Cohen. Her tenants at No. 1 Blackwood street, said she was getting 19 per cent on her investment. According to her statement, her profits have jumped 12 1/2 per cent.

At the hearing before the Mayor's committee it was brought out that she had bought the apartment for $22,000. One instance was a rental of $1,000 per month for 100 per cent within a period of twelve months for one apartment.

WARNS PARENTS OF MEASLES

Dr. Woodward Reports Children's Disease Wave Is Passing Over Hub

Health inspectors and nurses are taking every precaution to check the spread of the high wave of measles and whooping cough which have caused the deaths of 152 children of school age and averaged to render 200 school children ill each week.

Health Commissioner William C. Woodward warned parents to have their children examined immediately by a physician if symptoms of whooping cough developed or if the child had a slight cough and watery eyes.

Dr. Woodward stated that waves of measles and whooping cough occur every few years and reach their crest every ten years. It is just that length of time since there was a serious outbreak in Boston previously, he stated.

Since the first of the year there have been reported 1,333 cases of whooping cough and 22 deaths and 4,798 cases of measles and 47 deaths, according to health department records.

"Children should not be kept from school because their parents fear they may contract these diseases," Dr. Woodward said. "The use of the common drinking cup among children should be prevented, as it would spread the disease."

HARVARD FILLS

THREE NEW CHAIRS

New endowed professorships have been established at Harvard, and their first incumbents elected by the governing boards. One is the Theodore T. Baker professorship in economics, endowed by J. P. "Bill" Nye Resigns White House Job

Washington, May 13.—Joseph M. Nye, chief special agent of the State Department, has resigned and his resignation has been accepted by Secretary of State Col.

Nye, who is widely known as "Bill," was in charge of the arrangements for the visits to the United States of the various war missions of the allied countries. He safeguarded King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, and the Prince of Wales. Prior to the world war Nye was attached to the Secret Service Guard, directly responsible for the safety of President Taft and Wilson.

Dainty White Frocks

For Graduation Day

What sort of a dress shall it be? Many minds are trying to solve that problem now. Mothers are quite as anxious to have their daughters look well on that momentous occasion as are the daughters themselves. There are pretty, pretty Springtime Frocks of crisp Organdie and soft, graceful Frocks of Voile, Chiffon, Georgette and Net. They have gay little frills, simple tuckings, flying tucks and bits of ribbon.

For Girls 13 to 20 Years Old

There are four particularly attractive models that are inexpensive, and every one washes beautifully.

Alternate rows of Val insertion and fine tucks trim another Frock of white Voile. It has an over-skirt with a deep hem. Narrow gros-grain ribbon ties about the waist and the cunning puff sleeves. The round neck is edged with Val. 25.00

A filmy Georgette Frock has an over-skirt trimmed with tiny frills. Frills also trim the waist and short sleeves. White satin ribbon makes the sash. 25.00

Winter Street—Second Floor

For Girls 6 to 14 Years Old

They Used One Great Color Page in (THE AMERICAN WEEKLY)

They report a substantial increase in sales in every considerably sized city and town in America!

A good product, a seasoned advertising agency, an effective advertisement, and a circulation in more than two and a half million of the more progressive and well-to-do homes of America is a combination that is bound to bring phenomenal returns.

FOODS—an advertiser featuring a cook book in its advertising spent $2000 of a $10,000 appropriation in the American Weekly, and inquiries—most of the total inquiries received—came from this single page in the American Weekly.

BOOKS—a mail order book advertiser secured, from a single color page in the American Weekly, $1000 worth of first orders, a larger volume of orders than ever received from any other advertisement in any newspaper.

Mail order advertising is placed on the basis of results. Have you noticed how often the great color pages of the most successful mail order advertisers reappear in the American Weekly?

BUILDING MATERIALS—One color page in the American Weekly brought $2000 in inquiries for a product costing from $200 to $1000.

TOILET GOODS—A soap company, such with no cents enclosed, were received from one color page in the American Weekly offering a small sample of a simple toilet preparation. The names of any of these manufacturers will be furnished on request.

EVERY Sunday in the year two and a half million of the more progressive and well-to-do families of the United States look for the American Weekly as one of the principal features of the

REX SOX AND INDIANS IN BATTLE FOR THE TOP HONORS

First Contest Proves Battering
Fest, With Cleveland
on Winning End

By NICK FLATLEY.
Boston and New England fans in general are still on the edge of their seats, for the thrilling clash of baseball science and perfection and the like, which Cleveland Indians and the Red Sox. The teams opened the well-known series but they merely exchanged blows, and the game was a draw.

Penock vs Cieslewski
for Grand Contest

Two something else again tomorrow, though, with Herbie Pennock in line for the local audience and Stanley Cieslewski due to work for the Indians. The latter has dropped a game as yet this year. Penock, too, has been picking like a champion, and the duel should furnish more thrills than the opening game, which attracted the biggest crowd of the season.

Recovery of Oeschger and Fillington Encourages Belief Team Is in Lead to Stay
By SID C. KEENER.
St. Louis, May 13.—With the precious right arm belonging to Joe Oeschger and Dana Fillington recovering their strength from strenuous battles, George Stallings believes he will lead his first place crew during the Western Invasion. For a time, it was feared that the right hand would be thrown out for at least a month.

Swift & Company Does Not Control Its Raw Material

Other industries can buy their raw materials according to need or judgment, and set a selling price. They need manufacture only what they can sell at their price.

Cotton, wool, wheat, lumber, iron, steel, and other non-perishables, can be held either by their producers or their users until needed.

But live stock comes to market every day in fluctuating quantities from scattered sources, wholly uncontrolled and at times without regard to market needs.

An immediate outlet must be found for the perishable products, at whatever price, as only a very small proportion can be stored.

No one can foresee or stipulate what they shall bring; prices must fluctuate from day to day to insure keeping the market clear.

Only the most exacting care of every detail of distribution enables Swift & Company to make the small profit from all sources of a fraction of a cent per pound, necessary for it to continue to obtain capital and maintain operations.

MEASURES THAT WOULD CURE MOST OF THE TROUBLES AND TENDENCIES WHICH DISTRESS AND ALARM US TODAY

- (1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
- (2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
- (3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put all public offices as nearly as possible

- under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
- (4) To elect Federal Judges, including the Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
- (5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Action on Bonus Bill Shows Country Helpless Under Two Crooked Parties

Congressman Gallivan tells us that the Republican majority in Congress has determined not to pass the Soldiers' Bonus bill before the national election. He declares that the Republican object in killing the bonus proposition is to make a record for economy.

There is no doubt that Mr. Gallivan is right concerning the Republican purpose to kill the bill this year, if they dare. The motive is rather unimportant. The fact that the leaders intend to kill the bill is the important thing.

But what about the Democratic administration? What interest has the Democratic administration shown in behalf of the bonus for the soldiers? Under this administration thousands of millions have been made by profiteers staying safely at home.

The administration has not the courage to draft big business and make it give its services for soldier's pay, even though the work was safe and the soldier's work very dangerous. It allowed the profiteer to coin his money in safety. What does the Democratic administration propose to do now? Mr. Gallivan is sound on the question, but is his party?

Why does the Republican majority dare to kill the soldiers' bonus bill? They know the Democratic party cannot take advantage of it because the Democratic party's record is no better on the subject. If the Democratic party became responsible for a just bonus to the soldiers the Republican party would not dare to reject it.

This illustrates the helplessness of the country as the hands of two crooked old parties. When both are crooked and both are under the same masters, both dare to do anything because neither dares to attack the other's offense.

What Congressman Gallivan should say is that both Democratic and Republican parties do not want to give the bonus to the soldiers and will not if they can avoid it.

Poor Economy to Leave City Streets in Bad Condition

The streets of Boston are falling into such a state that in some places they resemble the bed of a torrential stream in a mountain fastness. The holes are so deep in these streets and so frequent that they must cause an epidemic of accidents with resultant injuries to persons and vehicles for which, of course, the city is legally liable.

We do not know what the records of the city's law department will disclose, but we do know that there is no economy in leaving streets in such a condition. If there is economic propriety in building streets and maintaining them at all, then there is no economic soundness in letting them become so bad that the cost of repairing them accumulates at an arithmetic and, perhaps, a geometrical ratio.

We have been informed by men who are experts in street building that the worst kind of economy in the world is to let the streets get into bad repair. It certainly is bad economy with respect to the care of everything else in the world except streets and there is no reason why it should not be bad economy in the case of streets.

What is the city proposing to do about it? The streets were bad enough under Mr. Curley's administration. They seem to be even worse now. We understand the difficulties of getting labor these days, but it is a difficulty which must somehow be overcome.

Dry Sweeping of Sidewalks Should Be Stopped

The American has several times called to the attention of the city fathers the annoying and dangerous practice, by some of our shopkeepers, of sweeping their dry sidewalks just about the time that the great industrial army is marching in dense columns to their different places of work along the city sidewalks.

It is not necessary to expatiate upon the annoyance and danger of this practice. Nearly everybody has had his or her eyes, ears, nose and, if they were talking, mouth filled with the dirty, germ-laden dust which is removed from the sidewalks to their persons.

There is no excuse for the practice and no excuse for permitting it. It is not permitted in better governed cities. It is needless. It ought not to be allowed between the hours of 7 in the morning and 8 in the evening. Indeed, it ought not to be permitted at all. It is better to take a bucket of water and dampen down the sidewalk and then give it a really clean sweeping, which will remove the dirt to the street where it belongs and not back on the sidewalk again after the dust settles or upon the persons of the passersby.

We call the attention of the Mayor and the City Council and the Board of Health to this practice and we hope that we shall not have to speak of it again.

Auto Headlight Law Violated

The selfish and reckless automobile drivers are making the nights hideous by violating the law with respect to keeping their headlights in full blaze. No effort seems to be made on the part of the police or the competent public authorities to correct this evil and to punish it. We know of no excuse for this neglect.

It is not difficult to detect the violators and a half-dozen arrests and convictions for the imposition of maximum fines will stop it for a while and then when signs begin to appear that there is a disposition to forget that there is a law against it another series of arrests, conviction and fines will keep it down again.

Eternal vigilance is the price of the efficient execution of any law and the law against using strong headlights in the city streets is no exception.

More Truth Than Poetry

Romance Suffers a Set-Back

SWEETHEART, let's dodge the conventional fashion. Let's love as they love on the stage and the screen;

Let ours be a thrilling, tempestuous passion; I'll scare up a villain to loom on the scene. A villain to lie and to try to deceive you.

To come to me, telling me scandalous things, So that I may cease for a time to believe you. A beautiful angel without any wings.

LET'S turn from realities for a brief season And toss all the common love-making aside; Let us quit being awayed any longer by reason.

At least, for a time let us hit a swift stride. You needn't, you know, become really vicious. Don't stray from the path that is narrow and straight.

But manage in some way to make me suspicious. Then, trusting you later, my joy will be great.

ILL get myself plunged into deep complications. There are things in my past that I never have told; My villain, by hinting at dark dissipation,

Will cause you to doubt and turn suddenly cold. There's a lovely grasswidow—oh, no, it was merely A passing flirtation, a six-weeks' affair;

But don't you begin to appraise me more dearly Since you know that I've not lacked the courage to dare?

THE love that comes after much gloom and distraction Has thrills that are far too delicious to miss; Consider the eager, the wild satisfaction

That marks the screen heroine's long-deferred kiss. Oh, well, never mind, if you can't be romantic—No, truly my record is flawless and clear;

The grasswidow—wait! You are driving me frantic! Come, darn it, please try to be sensible, dear.

HEH! HE AIN'T AFRAID

Will Attorney General Palmer please relieve the public mind by explaining whether he looks under the bed before or after he puts on his pajamas?

COME ON OUT, THE AIR'S STILL FREE

Out beyond the roar and riot of the city I can see Landscapes that are green and quiet where the streams wind placidly. And I look with deepest pity on the one who treads about In the whirlpools of the city, never caring to get out.

Y^e TOWNE GOSSIP

By K. C. B.

ABOUT two weeks ago there was published in this column, written in the style of the column, a letter from a mother who told that in her younger days she had dreamed of putting into song and verse her joys and griefs. And then a man had come into her life and she forgot all else but her love for him. And so they were married. And in a little while a baby came, a girl. And the girl wanted a little brother, and in another little while the brother came. And as mothers do, this mother gave her little boy and girl her youth and strength and love. And without complaint, she mourned the passing of her opportunity to do these things that in her younger years she dreamed that some day she might do. But she still dreams, however, and the dream she has is that her son might write what she should write and her daughter sing the songs she might have sung.

And in response to the mother's letter comes the following from Charles E. Allen, 6 Beacon Street, Boston:

DEAR K. C. B.

THE OTHER day.

A MOTHER wrote.

ABOUT HERSELF.

AND HER desire.

WHEN LIFE was young.

TO HELP the world.

BY RHYME or SONG.

BUT GAVE it up.

FOR LOVE and babes.

I DON'T know who.

THAT MOTHER is.

BUT I do hope.

HER SON may write.

AS SHE could write.

HER DAUGHTER sing.

AS SHE would sing.

BUT FOR the husband.

HOUSE and babes.

AND, K. C. B.

THE THING I do like.

TO HAVE you do.

IS JUST to tell.

THAT LOVING soul.

THAT SHE has sung.

A SONG to me.

THAT TOUCHED my heart.

AND HELPED me much.

AND FURTHERMORE.

I THANK YOU.

PICKFORD FIGHT IN NEVADA COURT

THE State of Nevada is making things very unpleasant for Mary Pickford, little star of the film, and her newly-acquired husband, Douglas Fairbanks. As all the world knows, the State, in the person of its attorney-general, is endeavoring to annul the divorce which was granted Mary from her first husband, Owen Moore.

The attorney-general, in bringing suit for this dissolution, has written a statement which contains no less than 1,000 words. In it he brands Mary as a distractor of the facts, and declares that the court was deliberately hoodwinked by the little actress, her counsel and her actor husband.

Mary and her lawyers, on the other hand, are not inactive in this situation, which may very well prove embarrassing to Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks. They are vigorously contesting each and every one of the attorney-general's allegations, and believe that they can make the higher court see the matter from their point of view.

Read all about the famous case in the next Boston Sunday Advertiser.

What will happen to Pearl O'Neil, whose husband has been sentenced to the electric chair for his part in the death of a man supposed to have been the lover of the woman? Will she forfeit her life for the part she played in one of the most brutal crimes of recent years?

Edward J. Knapp of Rochester, N. Y., was handcuffed to a tree and beaten to death on a night of last January. It is believed that Pearl O'Neil did most of the actual work of the crime, while her husband stood by and looked on. The story of the case appears in the next Magazine Section of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Mrs. Mills Shonts, wife of the late New York traction magnate, signed a document in favor of Mr. Amasa Caskie Thomas, which may assist the latter in establishing his claims to the Shonts' millions. The story of the Shonts will appear in the next Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Was Mrs. Leeds cheated out of her title as princess? The enormously wealthy and very beautiful Amasa widow, who recently married Francis Christopher of Greece, is in a distressing dilemma. She now discovers that she has no royal rank, title or privileges.

"True love is always a gentleman," says Elmer Gips in her weekly instalment of "My Secrets of Love," appearing in the Boston Sunday Advertiser. Her article is illustrated by Howard Chandler Christy.

Letters to the Editor

Retired Soldiers

Editor Boston American:

Allow me to say a word for the neglected veteran in the United States today. I refer to the retired enlisted man. After thirty years faithful service he is placed on the retired list with the understanding that he could be called back whenever the government wanted him. He was denied the $60 bonus which the government gave its war heroes. The term heroes is not applied to those old men, though they carried the American flag through the Spanish-American War, the Philippine uprising and the Boxer trouble in China, and a number of them have served during the World War.

Now they are cast out with compensation enough to pay for their shelter. A few years ago a soldier and family could live on his retired pay, but times have changed. Mr. Hearst's papers are so widely read that his influence could have this injustice remedied by bringing it to the attention of Congress.

I have read the Hearst papers for over thirty years, and in all that time they have always thrown their forces against graft and corruption and always supported the weak and the needy.

OLD SOLDIER.

Sense of Justice
Editor Boston American:
John Brown Potter's suggestion that those who were arrested as "Reds" without cause should be compensated is the best word yet. The writer has a practical sense of justice and honor. There certainly should be reparation.

L. DANIELS.

Do Your Children Eat Carrots?
Do you know that certain vegetables strangely affect the growth and health of children? That the absence of certain vegetables from the diet of a child may result in stunted growth, or even in disease of the nervous eyes? This is one of the startling statements made by Dr. Henry Smith. Will make the well-known scientific writer in Hearst's Magazine for May.

EXPERT ON CAUSE OF THUNDER STORMS

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Our class in science would like to know why it does not thunder and lightning in the winter. Would you kindly tell us?"—P. M.

Thunder sometimes, though far less often than in summer, especially in the part of the world where we live; but there are places where thunderstorms usually occur in winter and not in summer. For instance, in Iceland winter thunderstorms are frequent and summer ones rare. In Norway there are as many winter as summer thunderstorms, and the winter ones are the more violent.

Generally the frequency of thunderstorms at all seasons diminishes the further north you go. This, together with the great violence of the thunderstorms that occur with in the tropics, indicates that they are somehow associated with variations in the amount of heat derived from the sun. The association is an indirect one, being manifested through the increased evaporation of water that occurs in heated weather, and the formation of ascending currents of moist-laden air.

Thunder is lightning's voice, and lightning is an electrical discharge from a cloud on which an enormous electrical tension has been accumulated.

This accumulation of electricity is effected by the coalescence of multitudes of minute raindrops, or particles of vapor, each of which bears an electric charge due probably to the action of evaporation.

Surface Elects Diminished
When a large number of small spheres combine into one, the extent of surface relative to the volume is diminished.

For instance, suppose that a thousand little charged globules merge into a single large drop, then by arithmetical law that drop will have a surface only 100 times as great as that of any one of the component globules, but, since an electric charge resides only on the surface, all of the electricity which the 1,000 carried would be concentrated on an area ten times smaller than before, so that the tension, or potential energy, of the merged ten-fold. A further merging drops in the same ratio, until, until at last it becomes so great that an eruptive discharge takes place from the cloud in the form of a lightning stroke.

Stars and Stripes
It is hard to get self-confidence and an empty purse to travel together.

A good impulse is helpful, even if it doesn't bring an immediate increase of your income.

In a burst of enthusiasm, the other day, somebody mentioned Lansing for the presidency. Enthusiasm is the mother of much silliness.

Members of the British House of Lords are to be provided with 50-cent meals. No wonder Viscount Astor has decided not to give up peerage.

I've just paid sixteen dollars for a pair of shoes for Willie. Got the coal man's bill this morning, and it nearly knocked me silly.

Priced an overcoat on Monday, and the doctor says tonight. That my heart has been affected—doctors often are so bright!
